Posters by Géza Faragó on the southern panoramic terrace of the Castle Garden Bazaar

2021/03/10

Outdoor exhibition from our Map, Poster and Small Print Collection

[1]

A free outdoor exhibition of Géza Faragó's (1877–1928) posters kept in our collection opened in Budapest under the title What the Street Tells.

The artist's best-known pieces, also known as a painter, cartoonist, and theatrical costume and set designer, have theatrical and other cultural themes, and include advertising posters, too. The organizers selected 25 of the works kept in the collection of the NSZL, evoking the atmosphere of the turn of the century.

The outdoor exhibition is open until June 30, 2021.

More about the exhibition [2]

[3]
2021/03/06 - 15:30

Source URL: https://oszk.hu/en/news/posters-geza-farago-southern-panoramic-terrace-castle-garden-bazaar

Links:
[1] https://oszk.hu/sites/default/files/mesel-az-utca-kiall-2.jpg
[2] http://varkertbazar.hu/mesel-az-utca
[3] https://oszk.hu/sites/default/files/mesel-az-utca-kiall-1.jpg
[4] https://oszk.hu/en/category/foszotar-es-pozicionalo/hirek