„…who now remains indolent, has no future”
175 years of the Saint Stephen Association

[2]The Saint Stephen Association, founded in 1848, is a unique organisation, a church association serving Catholic public education and the oldest continuously operating publishing house in Hungary.

Throughout its long and eventful history, it has sought to satisfy the needs of intellectuals and the general public alike, and its product range has always been extremely varied.

The Society has made a major contribution to the organisation of Catholic society, and its achievements in publishing were recognised a century ago, in 1923, when Pope Pius XI awarded it the title of Publisher of the Holy See.
